

WARNER'S ELECTION WOULD HELP CITY

Man Who Would Run for Congress in Maryland, Identified With District.

In the announcement of Brainerd H. Warner that he is a candidate for Representative Peare's seat in the House of Representatives, there is made public a political event of unusual significance to the District of Columbia. If elected, Mr. Warner will be in a position to represent not only the Fifth Maryland District, but also to give unusually intelligent attention to the needs of the District of Columbia in Congress.

This is a fact because both as a business man and as one of the pillars of the Washington Board of Trade, he is thoroughly conversant with all matters touching the municipal and political needs of the District. That his identification with District affairs will be of benefit to the District is not doubted by those familiar with Congressional matters.

But in helping thus the people of the District, Mr. Warner would also be helping his home constituents, for there are many residents of the Fifth Maryland District who work in Washington, and who find here the market for their products. The interests of the District and the Fifth District are, therefore, closely allied.

Mr. Warner has long been prominent as a real estate dealer and an all-around business man in this city. He has become particularly well known to the people of his Congressional district because of the many speeches he has made from the lecture platform in the towns of the district. His chances for election are said by his friends to be good, as the Lowndes faction of the Republican party is at war with Representative Peare.

It is estimated that at least 2,000 more men will be required for the Atlantic fleet before it starts its long cruise on December 15. The Bureau of Navigation of the Navy Department is making arrangements to fill the vacancies and to press into service enough men to properly man the ships.

Reports have been received at the Navy Department showing the number of men whose terms expire prior to July 1, and it is proposed to have these sailors replaced by others of later enlistment. The re-enlistments have been above the average among those whose terms are about to expire, and it is thought that the trip to the Pacific is an attraction to the sailors.

The regular meeting of the Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Banking was held in Gude's Hall last night. A feature of the evening's program was a debate on the question of the repeal of the Government tax on State bank notes, which was participated in by ten members. After the debate, refreshments were served. The guests of the evening were Charles W. Claggett, F. L. Siddons, Albert Schulteis, and C. F. Crane.

TESTS OF PEAT FUEL PLAN OF GOVERNMENT

At the opening of the convention of peat men from all over the United States at the Inside Inn yesterday an announcement that may result in the development of an important industry for Norfolk and vicinity was made. It was said by J. C. Roberts, acting chief engineer of the Government fuel testing plant, that several carloads of peat had been received at the plant from the Dismal Swamp and that this fuel would be tested at once in the gas engine to determine its relative efficiency with various other fuels.

Mr. Roberts also announced in behalf of Joseph A. Holmes, chief of the technological branch of the United States Geological Survey, that the United States would at once take up a thorough investigation of the peat beds of the country.

MISS CROSMAN'S PLAY INTERESTS CHURCHMEN

When Henrietta Crosman comes to the National next Monday evening in her new play, "The Christian Pilgrim," it is expected that a large portion of the first audience will consist of members of the Christian Science faith. Miss Crosman has received the hearty support of Christian Scientists in every city where she has put on the new music play.

The story is taken from Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," and as every Christian Scientist knows, that work inculcates a doctrine not unlike their own. When "The Christian Pilgrim" opened in Philadelphia, Mrs. Stetson, who, next to Mrs. Eddy, is the leader of Christian Science in the United States, came over from New York to see the performance, and when it was over, she was more than enthusiastic in its praise and returned to her home asserting that she intended to arrange a demonstration in Miss Crosman's honor when she comes to Broadway.

AUDUBON SOCIETY MEETS: WEAVER BIRDS DISCUSSED

The first annual outdoor meeting of the Audubon Society of the District of Columbia was held yesterday afternoon at the National Zoological Park. The attendance was large and enthusiastic, and was under the direction of Henry Oldys and Nelson Woods, experts on the life and habits of birds.

They told interestingly of the weaver birds of Africa, whose skill in weaving nests as a protection against monkeys and snakes were the marvel of naturalists. The birds of the park zoo were looked over and discussed.

BOGART RETURNS TO FACE CHARGES

Advises received from New York today say that Mile T. Bogart, editor of the Press Scrap Book Company, who was arrested at the Riggs House yesterday, where he was registered under the name of John Wattman, is believed to be one of a band of check hunters that collect money through alleged "press associations" on the plea of "helping the newspaper boys."

They state that on September 16 Bogart visited the offices of Burr Brothers, promoters, in the Flatiron building, and represented himself as the editor of the Scrap Book Company, having offices in the Park Row building. It is stated that he made two purchases of stock from the firm, offering checks drawn on the Mercantile National Bank of New York, in payment. In both instances, it is said, Bogart presented checks in excess of the purchase price of the stock, receiving cash in change. He is alleged to have swindled the firm out of stock valued at $14, and about $20 in cash. The checks were marked "no good" by the bank.

Bogart, when arrested here, said he would make "good" and returned to New York last night to face the charge of "helping the newspaper boys."

WOMAN SEEKS DIVORCE AND SLICE OF LEGACY

In her petition the court is also asked to decree a sequestration of a legacy left to Mr. Kengia by his uncle and his interest in his father's estate pending the settlement of the suit and restrain the defendant from conveying his interest.
